

Iván Chocrón

Educator, Consultant, & Coach
in Healing, Human Relations, and Conscious Leadership

Bridging the gap between science and spirit through a grounded and approachable healing methodology.

Science & Spirit

Science and spirit may seem to be incompatible worldviews but that is not the case. Connecting these two worlds in a relatable way is essential for a balanced healing process.

Real Healing is Real

This might sound obvious, but is it? If we truly knew that we could heal, why would we decide to numb our pain? True healing is possible and there are accessible ways to get there.

Relatability

Meeting people where they are at with a rational and grounded approach suitable for the modern western mind is key for everyone to feel that healing work is also meant for them.

Inner Gifts

Every person has unique gifts, but few are aware of them until they heal their wounds. As people walk the path of healing they begin discovering and embodying their gifts, which brings a great sense of purpose and enthusiasm for life.

Iván Chocrón is a captivating inspirational speaker who passionately shares his philosophy of grounded, relatable healing and conscious use of plant medicine. As a highly regarded thought leader, he skillfully bridges the realms of science and spirituality to make the concept of healing accessible to a diverse global audience. By grounding his messages in relatable terms, Iván is able to resonate with individuals from all backgrounds. His unique approach invites people into a space of heightened self-awareness, serving as a catalyst for transformative inner work. With a thriving global community, Iván offers a wide range of services, including leadership consulting and executive team building, transformative retreats, and personalized coaching.